

12"	Apple Wood	Unicorn Hair Core	Applewood wands are not made in great numbers. They are powerful and best suited to an owner of high aims and ideals, as this wood mixes poorly with Dark magic.
13"	Ash	Phoenix Feather.	The ash wand cleaves to its one true master and ought not to be passed on or gifted from the original owner, because it will lose power and skill.
13 1/2"	Black Walnut	Dragon heartstring	Less common than the standard walnut wand, that of black walnut seeks a master of good instincts and powerful insight. Black walnut is a very handsome wood, but not the easiest to master.
12 3/4"	Cedar	Phoenix feather	These wands are drawn to owners with strength of character and unusual loyalty.
10 3/4"	Holly	Unicorn Hair	Holly is one of the rarer kinds of wand woods; traditionally considered protective, it works most happily for those who may need help overcoming a tendency to anger and impetuosity.
12 3/4"	Chestnut	Horned Serpent horn	This is a most curious, multi-faceted wood, which varies greatly in its character depending on the wand core, and takes a great deal of colour from the personality that possesses it.
13 1/2"	Dogwood	Unicorn Hair Core	Dogwood wands are quirky and mischievous; they have playful natures and insist upon partners who can provide them with scope for excitement and fun.
12 3/4"	Ebony	Dragon Heartstrings	This jet-black wand wood has an impressive appearance and reputation, being highly suited to all manner of combative magic, and to Transfiguration.
12 3/4"	Holly	Phoenix feather	Holly is one of the rarer kinds of wand woods; traditionally considered protective, it works most happily for those who may need help overcoming a tendency to anger and impetuosity.
9 3/4"	Maple	Troll whisker	I have often found that those chosen by maple wands are by nature travellers and explorers; they are not stay-at-home wands, and prefer ambition in their witch or wizard, otherwise their magic grows heavy.
13 1/2"	Pear	Dragon heartstring	These wands of splendid magical powers, which give of their best in the hands of the warm-hearted, the generous and the wise. Possessors of pear wands are, in my experience, usually popular and well-respected.
13"	Pine	Thunderbird tail feather	The straight-grained pine wand always chooses an independent, individual master who may be perceived as a loner, intriguing and perhaps mysterious. Pine wands enjoy being used creatively, and unlike some others, will adapt unprotestingly to new methods and spells.
12 1/2"	Redwood	Unicorn Hair Core	Wand-quality redwood is in short supply, yet constant demand, due to its reputation for bringing good fortune to its owner.
11 1/4"	Rosewood	Phoenix Feathers	Wand-quality redwood is in short supply, yet constant demand, due to its reputation for bringing good fortune to its owner.
13 3/4"	Silver Lime	Phoenix feather	This unusual and highly attractive wand wood was greatly in vogue in the nineteenth century. Demand outstripped supply, and unscrupulous wandmakers dyed substandard woods in an effort to fool purchasers into believing that they had purchased silver lime.
12 1/2"	Walnut	Serpent's Horn	Highly intelligent witches and wizards ought to be offered a walnut wand for trial first, because in nine cases out of ten, the two will find in each other their ideal mate.
11 1/4"	Willow	Unicorn hair	Willow is an uncommon wand wood with healing power, and I have noted that the ideal owner for a willow wand often has some (usually unwarranted) insecurity, however well they may try and hide it.
12 1/4"	Red Oak	Kneazle whiskers	You will often hear the ignorant say that red oak is an infallible sign of its owner's hot temper. In fact, the true match for a red oak wand is possessed of unusually fast reactions, making it a perfect duelling wand.
13"	Yew	Unicorn Hair Core	Yew wands are among the rarer kinds, and their ideal matches are likewise unusual, and occasionally notorious. The wand of yew is reputed to endow its possessor with the power of long life and strength.
12 3/4"	Vine	Thunderbird tail feather	Vine wands are among the less common types, owners are nearly always those witches or wizards who seek a greater purpose, who have a vision beyond the ordinary and who frequently astound those who think they know them best.
12 1/4"	Rowan	Dragon heartstring	Rowan wood has always been much-favoured for wands, because it is reputed to be more protective than any other, and in my experience renders all manner of defensive charms especially strong and difficult to break.
14 1/4"	Poplar	Phoenix feather	"If you seek integrity, search first among the poplars". Here is a wand to rely upon, of consistency, strength and uniform power, always happiest when working with a witch or wizard of clear moral vision.
12 1/2"	Hornbeam	Snallygaster heartstring	Hornbeam selects for its life mate the talented witch or wizard with a single, pure passion, which some might call obsession (though I prefer the term 'vision'), which will almost always be realised.
